THE FIELDS INSTITUTE

FIELDS

The Fields Institute, is an international centre for scientific research in mathematical sciences. It is an independent non-profit with strong ties to 20 Ontario universities, including the University of Toronto, where it occupies a purpose-built building on the St. George campus.

The Institute is internationally renowned for strengthening collaboration, innovation, and learning in mathematics and across a broad range of disciplines.

One of the Institute's flagship events, The Fields Medal Symposium, was founded in 2012 and is endorsed by the International Mathematical Union. The annual event honours a Fields Medalist and aims to gather researchers from across the globe to discuss, advance and celebrate the honouree's area of inquiry, and inspire a new generation of mathematicians and to extol the virtues of mathematics to the general public.

TESTIMONIALS

Maximilian Poetz

Vice President at AllianzGI

Max is a Vice President and Team Lead at Allianz Global Investors in Frankfurt, specializing in developing sales-related applications across European entities. With a background in Business Informatics, he launched his career through a graduate program at Allianz Deutschland, quickly ascending to leadership roles. Max combines his professional expertise with personal interests in finance, mathematics, and computer science, actively managing his investment portfolio and diving into research. An enthusiastic scuba diver, he also draws inspiration from his favorite book, Robert Oppenheimer's biography.

Dhinesh Murugesan

Assistant Vice President/Data Engineer

Dhinesh is an Assistant Vice President and Data Engineer at Allianz Global Investors in Frankfurt, with a background in Electrical Engineering and Computer Science. Experienced in data operations and project management, Dhinesh excels in leveraging technology to enhance efficiencies and drive innovation. Prior to Allianz, he worked at Capgemini Engineering in Munich, focusing on AI and software development. Beyond his technical expertise, Dhinesh enjoys exploring global cuisines and traveling to new destinations.
